Lachowce, miasteczko, pow. ostrogi, gm. L., o 17 w. od Jampola, o 40 od Ostroga, nad Horyniem, par. Jampol, okr. polic. lachowiecki (obejmując gminy: L., Siemionów, Uniów, Pererostów, Płużnów), kaplicę katol., młyny, stawy rybne, piec wapienny. Była tu parafia

katol. dek. ostrońskiego z kaplicami w Załużu, Szunkach, Mikłaszach i Semenowie. W 1441 r. posiadał tę wś Denysko Mokosiejewicz za przywilejem Kazimierza w. ks. litew. Później L. miała posiadać królowa Bona, a około 1520 r. Daszko Kalenikowicz, którego córka wyszła za Jaśka Sieniutę w 1538 r. Zygmunt I, załatwiając spór o Lachowce pomiędzy Jarmolińskimi i Sieniutami, przysądził je ostatnim. 1583 r. Stefan Batory nadał miastu prawo magdeburskie i inne przywileje. W 1617 r. stał pod L. obozem królewicz Władysław. Sieniutowie utrzymywali tu kalwinów, ale Paweł Krzysztof Sieniuta, przeszedłszy na katolicyzm, wyrugował ich stąd i w 1612 założył kościół dominikanów, do którego, stawszy się potem arianinem, sprowadził nauczycieli tego wyznania, z kolei wyrugowanych 1644 r. dekretem trybunałskim. Do 1794 r. należały L. do pow. krzemienieckiego, od tego roku do nowo sformowanego pow. ostrońskiego zostały wcielone. Za panowania Jana III, przez zajazd, L. dostały się ks. Jabłonowski. Z tych jeden Dobrogost usypał na Horyniu grobę i wyspę, na której zbudował drewniany zamek, a Józef Aleksander ks. Jabłonowski wojew. nowogrodzki, wymurował około 1745 r. zamek w kształcie pięciokąta. Przed 30 laty w prawem skrzydle była już urządzona gorzelnia, wołownia, browar. Kościoła z klasztorem ks. franciszkanów już i śladu nie było, a reszta budynków powoli przechodziła w ruinę. Samo moczko zabudowane na równinie a ku zachodowi rozpoczyna się pasmo wyniosłych gór; jeszcze dotąd egzystują wały oddzielające moczko od przedmieść Leoncina i Staryki. Kościół w 1866 r. odebrany i obrócony na cerkiew, a parafia została rozdzielona: jedna część do Kuniowa, druga do Teofilpola, a trzecia do Jampola; był tu jeszcze i trzeci kościół, ku zachodowi na górze, przy drodze wiodącej do wsi Wielkich Kaletyniec. Obecnie w L. jest 6 cerkwi. W 1768 r. byli i tu hajdamacy ukraińscy; gubernator lachowiecki, o tem donosząc, prosił o przysłanie wojska na obronę. Mko niewielkie, błotne, z obszernym rynkiem, na którym liczne jarmarki co roku się odbywają, a najznakomitszy jarmark w dzień śś. apostołów Piotra i Pawła. Jest tu synagoga żydowska, szkołka parafialna dla wiejskich dzieci, zarząd gminy i sąd gminny. Żydów obojej płci liczy się do 2000, chrześcian do 800 głów; stan wiejski zamożny, gleba czarnoziem drugiej klasy, pszena. W mku L. urodził się znany pedagog Teodozy Sierociński. Księżniczka Teofila Jabłonowska, wyszedłszy za ks. Lwa Sapiehę, wniosła tę majątność w dom męża. Gdy ks. Sapieżyna za granicą w 1852 r. życie skończyła, majątność lachowiecka została skonfiskowaną a w 1872 r. L. darowane generałowi Gallerowi. O L. obszernie w „Starożytnej Polsce“ Balińskiego i Lipińskiego, jako też w „Kłosach“ (tom XV, 45, 55) artykuł Steckiego. Do klucza lachowieckiego należały wsie: Zemielińce, Suszowce, Mikłasze, Tychomel i Czołhuzów (to w ostatnich czasach: a w dawniejszych): Hulowce, Książęcin, Bisowka Wielka, Semenów, Danikówka, Denysówka, Turówka, Berezyńce, Wodyczki, Kaletyńce Wielkie, Kaletyńce Małe, Choroszów, Kurjanki, Jurówka, Szymkowce, Dzwonki, Okniny, Kaszczyńce, Unijów, Żyznikowce, Siwki, Szunki i Warywodki. Te wszystkie wioski ks. Teofila Sapieżyna jedne sprzedała z wolnej ręki a inne wyszły z jej posiadania przez kolokacyą. Z. Róż.

From Prof. Richard Sokoloski:

The former Polish town of Lachowce (Polish spelling) or Ляхівці (Ukrainian spelling) had its name changed in 1949, as a result of post-war border changes, to the Ukrainian name of Білогір'я (pronounced Bilohoria). The town is now located in Ukraine.

The present-day Ukrainian pronunciation of the town is: Bilohiria.

1862 ?: First saw SF (from obituary), but newspaper lists his arrival as 1863 (see below)

Dr. Pawlicki, a veteran of the Crimean war, was a surgeon on the Russian ship Rynda when he first saw San Francisco in 1862. Two years later, when the Rynda was ordered home, he left the service and made his home in San Francisco. He married here in 1863 Pawlicki arrived in San Francisco on the Russian ship, Rynda

ARRIVAL OF STILL ANOTHER RUSSIAN WAR STEAMER.--The heavy and long continued firing, heard in town on Saturday, was owing to the arrival of the Russian steam corvette Rynda, which entered our harbor about ten o'clock in the morning. She is last from Hakodadi, which port she left thirty days ago. On coming up the Golden Gate, she saluted Fort Alcatraz and the Federal war vessels Lancaster and Naragansett, which compliments were duly acknowledged. For a half hour or more the cannonade was spirited. The Rynda has once before visited this port. She is of 800 tons burthen and carries 11 guns. Her complement of men is 160. The list of officers is as follows: Captain, Basarguire; First Lieutenant, Poliansky; Second Lieutenants--Bourachock, Shickmanoff, Olneick, Leman, Klopoff; Masters--Boutierkin, Dourkin; Engineers--Archipoff, Sokoloff; Surgeon--Paulitsky. The Rynda is the fifth Russian man-of-war which has arrived here during the last few weeks. Her companions are all up at Mare Island.

THE POLISH REVOLUTION.

EDITORS ALTA: In the last Wednesday's number of the Evening Bulletin, its New York correspondent, "J. W. S.," speaking of the actual position of the Southern rebellion, indulges himself in making reference to the last Polish revolution in the following terms: "In short, the rebellion is not a popular revolution. It is the creation of the slaveholding aristocracy, and does not command the hearty support of the people. It is a bogus revolution, like the recent outbreak in Russian Poland, where the Polish nobility sought, in the sacred name of freedom, to obtain power only that they might adjust around the people's neck a yoke far heavier and more burdensome than that imposed by the Czar. The latter insurrection failed; for it was not founded in justice, and so, at an early day, and for a similar reason, must the attempt to establish a new government upon the corner stone of human slavery," etc.

The reading of such calumny upon one of the most sacred struggles a nation ever sustained against its oppressors, produces painful impressions upon every noble mind, and every Polander's heart fills with indignation. The Polish revolution is bogus! I would have no objection against the correspondent's personal opinion in the matter, but when he tries, through the columns of a leading paper, to mislead the public mind, and put in false light facts too well known, and duly appreciated by all intelligent men, it is my duty, as a Pole, to protest by my present writing against such a falsity, and give him severe admonition not to interfere with matters which he understands perhaps less than I do, in reference to the inhabitants of the moon. Having no proofs, I do not want to imply any relation between the Bulletin's correspondent and the Russian Government, which is notorious for employing spies and literary men to promote its interests in foreign countries; I am rather inclined to take such absurdities on account of the correspondent's complete ignorance of the facts that I intend now to explain.

The last Polish revolution was not a deed of any person whatever, or of the Polish nobility only, as the correspondent states, but was necessitated by the suffocating and insupportable foreign rule, which overwhelm equally all classes of Polish society, checking all breathings of national life. To suppose that the unrefined Polish peasant felt less, or did not feel at all, the iron yoke of the Russian Government, and did not want to overthrow it, is not to know his true sentiments, nor understand Polish history of latter days, nor the dramatic scenes of the last struggle. It is true that the leading men of the revolution were not peasants, but it could not be otherwise, on account of the low state of the peasant's mental culture, caused by too long servitude. That part, of course, must have fallen on a class of Polish society more intelligent, more capable to oppose such a formidable foe; and that class comprised mostly the inhabitants of the towns and cities, i. e., merchants, tradesmen, mechanics, and the lower nobility. Moreover, the first deed upon the outbreak of the revolution was the long expected decree of complete emancipation of the peasants, (22d of January, 1863,) issued by the Polish National Government, previous to that granted by the Czar, Alexander II., (1864.)

Now, let me ask, where Mr. "J. W. S." sees the intention of the Polish nobility, in the sacred name of freedom, to obtain power only for the purpose of adjusting around the people's neck a yoke far heavier and burdensome than that imposed by the Czar? Though it is a great problem for me to understand how a citizen of this free country can embrace the cause of Czarism, but as it is a matter of individual taste, I would feel rather reconciled with it, if, at the same time, the correspondent would not blame and stigmatize, with the name of bogus, the very same principles for which the fathers of this Republic so intrepidly fought. Our Polish revolution failed, that is true, not because it was not grounded in justice, not because it was not popular, but because bereft of all material support—our gallantry, courage and sacrifice could not stand against the crushing power of colossal robbers banded together. A favorable time will come, however; we entertain the strongest hope, that the people, tortured and decimated as they are now, will rise once more to accomplish, not anything bogus, but the independence and freedom of their country. MEDICAL BENEVOLENT SOCIETY ANNIVERSARY. The San Francisco Medical Benevolent Society held its fourth annual meeting at the Lick House last evening with a full attendance of members. The society elected the following officers for the ensuing year: President, R. Mc-Millan, M. D.; Treasurer, L. P. Gautier, M. D.; Secretary, John T. Cook, M. D.; Executive Committee, Drs. S. R. Gerry, R. Mackintosh, L. Pawlicki; Finance Committee, Drs. W. H. Bruner, L. P. Gautier, J. G. Bucknall; Permanent Secretary of Literary Chapter, Dr. G. H. Pwoers; Curator and Librarian, Dr. B. R. Swan. The society—only organized four years ago—is in a very prosperous and satisfactory condition, the report of the Finance Committee showing a balance to its credit in the saving's banks of over $2,500, and the report of the Curator and Librarian a library valued at $1,000, with a very large and valuable collection of pathological and anatomical specimens. The business part of the meeting over, the society adjourned to the dining-room, where a banquet was held and fully appreciated by a number of distinguished guests, and the unanimous opinion was that the society might justly be proud of its fourth anniversary.—San Francisco Bulletin, December 22d.

SAN FRANCISCO MEDICAL BENEVOLENT SOCIETY.—Organized December 21, 1870. Incorporated February 23, 1871. The objects of this society are for the protection and relief of deserving physicians and their families who may suffer from sickness or want, and to promote kindly professional and social intercourse among themselves and their professional brethren at large. A Literary Chapter was organized July 21, 1871, for the following objects: First. The collection of a library. Second. The establishment of a museum. Third. The publication of a medical journal, or monographs on medical subjects, as the society may, from time to time, determine or order to be printed. Fourth. Reports of cases and the discussion of such medical subjects as shall be brought before the Chapter. Regular meetings of the society and the Literary Chapter are held on the twenty-first day of each month.

who knew him. It was an original and curious relation that bound him to his friends, Captain Piotrowski and Dr. Pawlicki. The former had aristocratic leanings and prejudices, and the latter, the doctor, was a staunch Catholic. The whole time they were of different opinions and were very hot in their discussions, but when it came to action, they all went hand in hand. They all three were the soul

Polish Society Election.

The Polish Society of California has elected the following officers: Dr. Pawlicki, President; Alex. Bednawski, First Vice-President; P. T. Lessen, Second Vice-President; G. Hejzman, Treasurer; A. Elgass, Secretary. A resolution was unanimously adopted tendering a vote of thanks to the retiring President.

A meeting of Polish citizens was held last night at 1082 Market street, to consult about the proper means by which the attention of our Government could be called to the recent atrocities committed by the Russians upon Poles in Turkey. Dr. Pawlicki acted as Chairman and Professor Al Elgass as Secretary. An address in the Polish language was read, after which Capt. Bielawski recited the grievances of their

President, Captain Piotrowski, was the first speaker, giving a short and very interesting history of the Revolution, in which he himself participated. He was followed by Professor A. Elgass, Secretary of the Polish Society, who read several letters of prominent Poles from different parts of the State, and added to them a eulogy of the prominent participants in the Revolution. Speeches were also made by Captain O. Bielawski, Dr. W. Pawlicki, Captain F. Lessen, Mr. T. Horain, La Borne, and others. Mr. Joseph Pandler, the poet of the evening, read an exquisite poem composed by him for the occasion, describing the battles and the heroes of the Revolution. One of the features of the evening was the speech of Gov. E. S. Salomon, one of the invited guests, in which some of the most interesting events of that memorable Revolution were vividly described, and the speaker showed himself, to the delight of the many Poles present, thoroughly conversant with the history of their country. The Polish Revolution of 1830, although Poland did not succeed in freeing her people from Russian oppression, was a series of brilliant victories and glorious deeds of Poland's Independence.

The seventeenth anniversary of the Polish insurrection of 1863 was celebrated by a party of about fifty Polish gentlemen at the Willow House, on Eighteenth street, on Thursday evening. Dr. Pawlicki, President of the Polish Literary Society of California, delivered an address. Several others followed, all uniting on the hope that the time was not far distant when Poland will again take rank among the free and independent nations. A collation was spread, at which a large number of toasts were drunk to their adopted as well as to their native country. A number of letters from sympathizers from various parts of the country were also received.

At a meeting of the Polish Society of California, Dr. A. S. Pawlicki, President, and Alexander Elgass, Secretary, held last evening at their rooms, 1235 Market street, the following resolutions were adopted :

WHEREAS, It has pleased the Almighty Ruler of the Universe to remove from this world by a violent death our beloved President, James A. Garfield ;

Resolved, That as men and citizens we proclaim our abhorrence of the dastardly crime of murder, more especially when directed against the lawful head of the Nation, the safety of whose life is so closely bound up with the well-being and honor of the whole people.

Resolved, That we sympathize most sincerely with our brethren, the citizens of this Republic, in which we have found a home, in denouncing the outrage which sets at naught the expressed will of a free people in choosing its rulers.

Resolved, That to the family of our murdered Chief Magistrate we offer our deepest sympathy in this, their great bereavement.

Resolved, That these resolutions be spread upon the minutes and be published in the Press of San Francisco.

DURKIN.
DURKIN.—In this city, August 6, Hugh, son of Patrick and the late Ann Durkin, a native of San Francisco, aged 21 years.
The funeral will take place this day (Monday) at 2½ o'clock P. M., from the residence of the family, 1229 Folsom street, between Eighth and Ninth. Friends are invited to attend.

Of the many other benefits given for the Sisters during this period of growth there is one that merits special mention. The Sisters' faithful physician, Dr. L. Pawlicki, a native of Poland and a veteran of the Crimean War, used his influence to secure the services of Madame Helena Modjeska, who was making a tour of America at the time. Early in 1883 a benefit was given by this noble, tender-hearted woman for the Sisters and their little children. A matinee, held at the Grand Opera House, on Mission Street, near Third, on Washington's Birthday, was a grand financial success as well as quite a social event.

We read that later, on August 8, 1883, Madame Modjeska visited St. Francis Day Home. The children's songs of welcome and the following address, by one of their number, bespoke the pleasure that the day gave them :

KING JOHN SOBIESKI.

The Celebration of His Victory Over the Turks.

The Polish population of San Francisco is not very large, but those who are here make up in patriotism what they lack in numbers. In 1683, Poland's warriors, under command of the great King, John Sobieski, raised the siege of Vienna and routed the Turks with great slaughter at Choczim, and virtually saved the Christian world from the invasion of the infidels. Sobieski crowned the Poles with an abundance of the laurel wreaths of victory, and in this city, yesterday, and in every free city in the world, the descendants of the Polish patriots celebrated his grand success. The anniversary of the event was commemorated in St. Mary's cathedral early in the morning by a high mass, and for the first time in the history of the city a Polish sermon was preached from the pulpit by Rev. Dr. Schultz. After the services various religious hymns were sung, the first being the anthem, "Boze cos Polske." The anthem is a prayer to God for the deliverance of Poland and a supplication that the country may again take its place among the nations of the earth. In Russian-Poland the singing of this hymn is strictly prohibited, and even the newspapers are forbidden to mention the anniversary celebration or publish Sobieski's name. In Milwaukee and Chicago, where the Poles are very numerous, the anniversary is celebrated with great pomp and ceremony. At the establishment of Muzio & Krynski, No. 2925 Mission street, last evening, a banquet was given, which was presided over by the venerable patriot Dr. Pawlicki. An elegant menu was provided, and speeches were made in English and Polish by the participants. A letter was received from Mrs. Somolinski of Chicago, inclosing a portrait and the well wishes of the sender. The dining-room was tastefully decorated, and a very pleasant evening was passed. Among those present were Messrs. Bednawski, Piasechi, Malowanski, Hirshfelder, Vidaver, Levison, Czarnechi, Paudler, Ditrich, Lesson, Horain, Fieffelman, Kosmalski, Krynski, Kopankiewski, Popper, Nowachi, Swoboda, and many others.

Polish Celebration.

Last Sunday afternoon and evening the Polish Society of California held, at No. 2935 Mission street, a meeting and banquet in commemoration of the revolution of the Poles in 1863 against the Czar of Russia. B. Laski, a participant of the memorable struggle, was called to the chair, and several speeches and toasts were given. Captain Caspar Biclowski and Messrs. Zychlinski, Malonanski, Teophil Strozynski, L. Pawlicki, A. Bednawski and Joseph Pandler responded to different toasts, and the evening was passed in a pleasant discussion of the history of the Polish nation.

Died from a Fall.

Patrick Durkin, formerly a real estate dealer in this city, was buried yesterday from his residence on Folsom street, near Ninth. His death occurred Thursday evening at St. Mary's Hospital from injuries received on the afternoon of that day, by falling from his front piazza to the ground, a distance of fifteen feet. While out walking that afternoon he was run over by a horse and buggy at the corner of Sixth and Harrison streets. He was picked up and taken home by the buggy occupant, who left him at his gate. He was faint and weak, and after ascending a long flight of steps, fell backward as stated.

A COMPLIMENTARY DINNER.

Dr. and Mrs. Clinton Cushing gave an exceptionally pleasant dinner during the week at their home on Sutter street in honor of Count and Countess Bozenta. The dining saloon was attractively arranged for the evening, and the appointments of the table harmonized in every particular. The menu was carefully selected, delicately prepared and appetizingly served. After dinner a couple of hours were delightfully spent in the drawing-room before the guests retired. To meet Count and Countess Bozenta were Dr. and Mrs. Pawlicki.

For Injuries From a Fall.

The breaking down of a platform in rear of a dwelling-house at 205 Second street on February 1st last precipitated Alice Dulleghan to the ground, a distance of twenty-five feet. Her ribs were broken and her spine and legs were seriously injured. She has, therefore, sued to recover $25,255 damages from her landlord, Ladislaus Pawlicki.

Pawlicki Ladislaus, physician and surgeon, 700 Sutter

Mrs. Pawlicki, wife of Dr. L. Pawlicki, made a short tour recently through Napa county, where she left her sons, Casimir and Thadeus, pleasantly domiciled on a farm outside of Napa City. On her return she visited Mrs. Strentzel and Mrs. John Muir at their attractive residence near Martinez.

Mr. Szianiawski, a member of the Diplomatic Corps of St. Petersburg and the nephew of a distinguished Russian General, is the guest of Dr. and Mrs. Pawlicki at their home on Van Ness avenue. He is traveling for pleasure, and has brought letters of introduction to friends in this city from Mr. Olorovsky, formerly Russian Consul at this port, now Consul-General at New York. The gentleman left here to-day for Mexico, then visit Cuba, Florida, New Orleans, St. Louis, Richmond, Baltimore and Washington. While on this Continent he will arrange to see all points of interest.

Uroczystość Kościuszkowska w Ameryce.

Kościuszki stoletnią pamięć obchodzili Polacy na wystawie „Midwinter fair“ w San Francisco (Kalifornia) 20. maja. W udekorowanej wspaniale „Festival hall“ (sali uroczystości) ujrano na scenie podwyższeniu orły polskie, rycerzy w polskich zbrojach i dziewczę w polskich strojach. Okazała jedwabne chorągwie Stanów Zjednoczonych i Polski zdobiły ściany, a wizerunek Kościuszki z napisem: „and freedom shrieked as Kościuszko fell“ umieszczono w środku sceny. Licznie i przeważnie ze sfery inteligencji, do 3000 osób, zgromadzonym, dr. Władysław Pawlicki, jako mistrz ceremonii, przedstawił sędziego E. W. M. Kinsty na prezydenta dnia, który w sympatycznej dla Polski i Polaków przemowie z naciakiem przytoczył, że Polacy nieprzestali być narodem, a Polska jeszcze nieginie, bo żyje w sercach jej wiernych synów, a ci z zaszczytem wskazują na przebieg dziejów Polski. Po nim przemówił jenerałny dyrektor wystawy M. H. Deyoung również jak najsympatyczniej dla Polaków, z naciskiem podniósł, że słowa przez niesumiennej dziejopisarzy tylokrotnie włożone w usta Kościuszki „Fidis Poloniae“ przez tegoż nigdy nie były wymówione, co sam Kościuszko w liście przez siebie dyktowanemu i podpisanym stanowczo zaprzeczył, wskazując, że gdy padł pod Maciejowicami, stracił przytomność i dopiero po 48 godzinach ją odzyskał i już z tego powodu tych słów na polu bitwy wymówić nie mógł. Pani

Harriet Skidmore Amerykanka, poetka, wielka przyjaciółka Polski i jej literatury, ułożyła na tę uroczystość poemat pod tytułem: „God save Poland (Boże zbaw Polskę)“ deklamowany przez pannę Tucholską. Przemówił jeszcze p. F. Muraszy po angielsku, a znany w Lwowie Modest Marjański po polsku, panna Kopankiewicz zaś wygłosiła deklamację. Szczęśliwą uroczystości był występ pani Heleny Modrzejewskiej i Kotskiego pianisty, który po raz pierwszy przedstawił się publiczności w San Francisco. Pojawienie się pani Modrzejewskiej na scenie, wywołało entuzjazm nie do opisania, bo jak pisał „Chreniela“ wyglądała zachwycająco, że zaskoczyła wszystkich pamiętających dawniejsze jej występy. Nawet słuchacze niemieckiej polskiego języka zrozumieć, że mówi o ideałach polskich, a sama przejęta treścią wypowiedzianych słów nie mogła powstrzymać łez. Wzruszyła do żywego wszystkich obecnych. W końcu uroczystości uchwalono rezolucję, która w ostatnich ustępach powiada: „Odzywamy się do wszystkich na całym świecie milijonów rodaków, sprawiedliwie i wolność o sprzyjanie i pomoc dla naszej cierpiącej ojczyzny i powstrzymać będziemy tę odzwę tak długo, póki Polska nie zajmie przynależnego jej miejsca między narodami świata“. Sprawozdanie to zawiadujemy ob. Aleksandrowi Elgasowi b. sekretarzowi tow. Polaków w Kalifornii. Od tow. demokratycznego polskiego w Buenos Ayres (Północna Ameryka), otrzymaliśmy pismo następujące: Obchodziliśmy tu 103-letnią rocznicę konstytucji 3. maja w liście gro-nie rodaków i osób sympatyzujących z nami prze-szło 120 osób. Obywatel przybyłszy W. Weychan w treściwych wyrazach wyświadczył ożywiający, a prof. M. Górski wypowiedział uroczystą mowę, przypominając fakty historyczne. Loteria fantowa urządzona na korzyść towarzystwa dobroczyńności dla polaków św. Stanisława, przyniosła znaczny dochód jednocześnie zaproponowano skłódkę na po-moc Kościuszki. Z lotykiem tow. demokraty-cznego w B. Ayres, jest inżynier Olewiński, a se-kretarzem Jan Karamiński.

A most successful reception was given last Wednesday to Mme. Modjeska and her husband, Count Bozenta, by Dr. and Mrs. Pawlicki at their residence, 1119 Van Ness avenue. The drawing-rooms and dining salon were artistically decorated with the choicest flowers of the season and looked like a fairy bower. Mme. Modjeska was attired in a magnificent robe of shell pink moire antique en train. She seemed delighted in meeting her old and new friends. The hours of the reception were most interestingly spent in pleasant conversation and in listening to recitations and vocal and instrumental music. The elite of the city were in attendance, and all were delighted with the charming hospitality of their host and hostess.

Vichy Springs vacation (Pawlicki & Bielawski)

Last Tuesday Chevalier and Mme. deKontski gave a farewell reception at their residence, 1517 Geary street, in honor of Rev. R. H. Haweis, and on the same occasion they greeted the arrival of another famous lecturer and traveler, Mr. George Kennan. Though the entertainment was an impromptu one, many of the invitations having been sent by telephone, it proved to be a most delightful one.

Among the distinguished guests were: Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Pixley, Miss Edith Nelson, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sullivan, Mrs. Thomas Breeze, Mr. and Mrs. Homer King, Mrs. J. D. Toy, Mme. Ziska, Miss Allie Ziska, Dr. Chismore and Miss Chismore, Mr. George Kennan, Rev. H. R. Haweis, Mrs. H. Thornburgh, Dr. and Mrs. Pawlicki, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Jewett, Dr. and Mrs. Szpitz.

was the occasion of the christening of the daughter of Pedro Gomez, who has for so many years been sexton of the cathedral. Rev. Father Prendergast, Vicar-General, officiated and Miss McGown, soprano of the cathedral choir, acted as godmother. Young Dr. Pawlicki was godfather. The little one was named Juanita Clara, the latter name being that of the godmother.

DE KONTSKI HONORED

TESTIMONIAL TO THE VETERAN COMPOSER.

The Great Pianist Has Consented to Perform at a Benefit Concert.

In response to a popular demand, Chevalier A. de Kontski, court pianist to the Emperor of Germany, will perform at a testimonial benefit to be given him on Thursday evening, February 21st, at the Auditorium. This will be pleasing news to the host of admirers of the eminent musician and composer in this city.

The subject of a testimonial concert was broached some time ago by a number of musically inclined citizens. They alluded to and appreciated the fact that the Chevalier was about to reach his seventy-ninth birthday, and that he had been prominently before the public as a composer and a pianist of renown for fully seventy years. A high regard was expressed for the incomparable talents of the musician, together with the hope that De Kontski would accept a testimonial. The request was signed by the following well-known gentlemen:

Adolph Sutro, Mayor of San Francisco, Joseph D. Redding, Dr. L. Pawlicki, Henry Heyman, G. Chismore, M. D., H. R. Haweis, John E. Merrill, Colonel J. D. Fry, A. B. Spreckels, T. H. ATTORNEY T. E. PAWLICKI ; IS HELD TJP AND ROBBED

Three Highwaymen Commit Crime

at Corner of Van Ness Avenue and Post Street.

Attorney T. E. Pawlicki, residing at 1119 "Van Ness" avenue, was held up by three highwaymen at 10:30 o'clock last night at the corner of Van Ness avenue and Post street. The victim of the robbers was on his way home and when he approached Post street he saw three men standing on the corner, near a building that is being improved.

"I did not think anything was wrong," said Attorney Pawlicki, "until the men came close to me. Then one of them, told me to throw up my hands. He pointed a pistol at me and covered my eyes with his hand. I felt the muzzle of another pistol behind my ear. I told the men that I had nothing of value outside of a few dollars change. They took my money and searched me for jewelry, but I never wear any. The men warned me to keep quiet and hurried up Post street and I lost sight of them. I think they got away in a buggy. My brother telephoned to the police when I got home. Attorney Pawlicki gave a good description of the robbers and the police hope to have the criminals behind bars without delay.

Mrs. L. Pawlicki has sent out cards announcing "at home" on first Thursdays, 1119 Van Ness avenue.

Something quite out of the ordinary in the way of an exhibition attracted a large number of people yesterday afternoon to the rooms of the Philomath Club, corner of Bush street and Van Ness avenue. Two pretty young women artists Mme. B. de Areales and Mme. J. de Junosza, hailing from Paris, although one is Spanish and the other Polish, presented to the interested public their copies of famous old masters, portraits of local people and some new illuminated work on leather. Their studio is 519 Van Ness avenue.

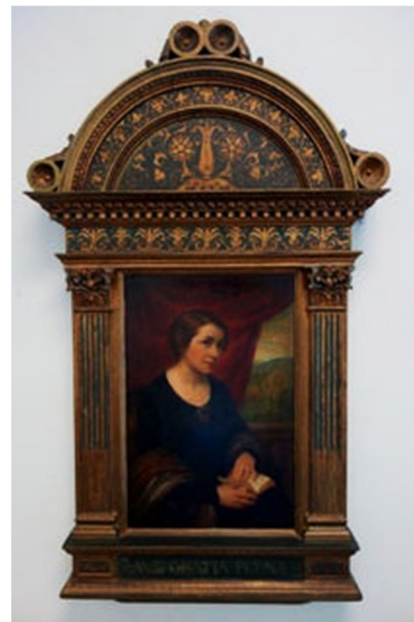

It is Mme. B. de Areales who has made the copies of four of Valazquez paintings, two of Millet and two of Lancret.

She has been successful in the reproductions of the Valazquez and in looking at them the thought would not down: "Better a good copy than an indifferent original."

A copy that will surely attract much attention is Mme. J. de Junosza's copy of Leonardo Da Vinci's "La Gioconda," one of the few undoubted pictures of this master. The original is in the Louvre. In reproducing it Mme. J. de Junosza has gotten the matchless complexion, the bewitching smile and the good atmosphere in which the portrait is painted.

Since coming here Mme. de Junosza has done a number of portraits of well known people that are finding most favorable criticism from friends. Two of these paintings are of Dr. and Mrs. Pawlicki.

The exhibition closes to-day.

(after Bielawski died in 1905, Junosza moved to Pawlicki's house)

Madame Junosza, 1119 Van Ness avenue, informed the Commissioners by letter that she possessed several noted copies of celebrated paintings, among them a Velasquez, which would be on exhibition at Miss Daingerfield's studio and at Vickery's. A proposition to purchase the copies for the museum was referred to Commissioner Cummings.

Among Madame J. de Junosza's best work is a copy of Leonardo da Vinci's "Mona Lisa" or "Joconda" or "La Gioconda," the wife of Francesco del Giocondo, one of the few undoubted pictures of Leonardo da Vinci, and one of the greatest portraits the world possesses. These charming foreigners have their studio at 519 Van Ness avenue, where they will remain through the winter.

As he prepared to leave for action in France, [Francis] Fronczak speculated about his future in private correspondence with friends and colleagues. In a letter to Dr. Ladislaus Pawlicki in San Francisco, he broke the news: You will be interested to know that I have been appointed a member of the Polish Committee in Paris . . . and at a very early day will cross the Atlantic and run the gauntlet of the U-boats in fulfillment of my appointment. Were it not for the conditions in Russia, I should have gone to Paris by way of San Francisco and Japan, and incidentally visited you, all of which would have been a great pleasure to me, and which I regret very, very much I cannot do. I do not know how long I will be on the Western Front in France, nor can I give you any further details at the present time.

Letter from Francis Fronczak to Dr. L[adislaus] Pawlicki, 13 March 1918, Box 47, Folder 3, Fronczak Papers, 1894-1947.

One of the most famous rendezvous of the Republican politicians in the earlier days was Phil McGovern's saloon, on the northeast corner of Market and Kearny streets where now stands The San Francisco Chronicle building. It was there that Brady and Mannix and Jim Gannon had their headquarters.

Over McGovern's there were offices, and among those having offices there was Dr. Ladislaus Pawlicki, a Polish physician who had fought against the allied British, French and Turkish forces in the Crimea and then came across the Atlantic and so on to the shores of the beckoning Golden West.

The Crimean war ended with the fall of Sebastopol in the later fifties--a very long time ago. But the gallant old veteran of its horrors and hardships still survives as a resident of San Francisco and the father of two prominent San Franciscans.

He resided for many years at the Razetk House, which then stood just across the street on the southwest corner of Kearny street and St. Mark place, subsequently known as Morton street, and now as Manila avenue, which runs from Kearny street to Union Square. In that hotel Dr. Casimir F. Pawlicki was born forty-seven years ago. His brother, Attorney Thaddeus E. Pawlicki, was born at the Windsor House, which used to be over Curtin's dry goods store at Fifth and Market streets.

Venerable Physician Has Lived Here 57 Years and Aided Many

Aged S. F. Physician Dies at His Home

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 12.—Dr. Ladislav Pawlicki, 92 years old, a veteran of the Crimean war, died yesterday in Mary's Help hospital. He had lived in San Francisco 59 years and retired from practice 10 years ago. His home was at 2396 Pacific avenue. Surviving are two sons—Dr. C. F. Pawlicki and T. E. Pawlicki, an attorney, both residing here.

A surgeon on the Russian ship Rynda, Dr. Pawilecki first landed in San Francisco in 1862. When the vessel was ordered home two years later, he left its service to remain here. He was married in 1870.

"Work as hard as you wish, as many hours as you wish, but put your heart in your work and be moderate in all things," was the axiom for long life which Dr. Pawlicki offered on the anniversary of his ninetieth birthday two years ago.

Veteran Physician of Bay Region Dead at 92

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 18.—Dr. Ladislas Pawlicki, 92 years old, a resident of San Francisco for 59 years, and until ten years ago actively engaged in the practice of medicine and surgery in this city, died in Mary's Help hospital. His home was at 2396 Pacific avenue.

Dr. Pawlicki, a veteran of the Crimean war, was a surgeon on the Russian ship Rynda when he first saw San Francisco in 1862. Two years later, when the Rynda was ordered home, he left the service and made his home in San Francisco. He married here in 1870 and is survived by two sons, Dr. C. F. Pawlicki and T. E. Pawlicki, an attorney, both of this city.

Two years ago, on celebrating his ninetieth birth anniversary, he gave as his recipe for long life, "work as hard as you wish, as many hours a day as you wish, provided your heart is in your work, and be moderate in all things."

Santa Cruz, California.

Dr. Poth was the son of attorney James L. Poth of Pittsburgh, who was the son of Ellen (Nellie) Lenahan and James Poth, also of Pittsburgh. Ellen was the sister of John T. Lenahan IV and the aunt of Marisita Lenahan O'Connell.

Dr. Roche was an active member of the Eire Society of Boston. Lenahan O'Connell is a past president.

The roots of the Lenahan family in Ireland go back to the early 1800s to John T. Lenahan I and his unknown wife and to Patrick O'Donnell and his unknown wife. The records are incomplete because so many of them were lost in fires and floods, raids and evictions, famines and civil wars — the unhappy legacy of Ireland's history.

It is known that John T. Lenahan II and Mary O'Donnell produced Patrick Lenahan, who later followed his mother to New York and Florida. He then went north before the Civil War to live initially with a cousin, Anthony Brady. Patrick married Margaret Durkin, and they had two children, John T. Lenahan IV and Mary Lenahan.

→ When Margaret Durkin Lenahan died, Patrick married Elizabeth Duffy, and there were 11 additional children. However, the blood of Margaret and her brothers and sisters still flowed in John T. IV and his sister, Mary.

They passed it on to their total of 12 children as well as their descendants to this day. As a result, the Durkins must also be considered — at least cursorily — in any history of the O'Connell family.

As best can be determined, the family of Margaret Durkin came to America about 1840 from the village of Ballina, parish of Megownough, County Mayo. Margaret's brothers and sisters were: Edward, Patrick, John, Ellen, and Catherine. Unfortunately, John died of pneumonia in 1839 — just a year before he completed his studies at Maynooth College in preparation for his entry into the priesthood.

When the Durkins arrived in Pennsylvania after landing at Philadelphia, they were well educated and obtained good positions. Margaret married Patrick Lenahan, another Mayoman, and they became the parents of John T. Lenahan IV and Mary Lenahan. As related earlier, Margaret died after the birth of her second child.

Catherine Durkin married John Fleming of Port Griffith, and they had one son — after which time they became lost to this history.

After Patrick Lenahan married Elizabeth Duffy, Edward and Patrick Durkin took their sister to San Francisco, where they placed her in a comfortable convent school for young ladies. Then the brothers went off to the gold fields to try their luck. They returned within several years with a modest sum of money, retrieved Ellen from the convent school, and then set up housekeeping together.

Margaret Durkin married Patrick Lenahan (both were from Co. Mayo, Ireland). Margaret's sister, Ellen, married L. Pawlicki. Brothers Edward, Patrick and John M. Durkin died in San Francisco.

Edward and Patrick obtained fine positions with the Federal government in San Francisco because they were excellent scholars and were very clever with the writing pen. Their handwriting was like that seen on copper plates.

Reportedly, Ellen Durkin was a great beauty, highly educated, and an accomplished pianist, linguist, conversationalist, and art lover. She married Dr. Ladislaus Pawlicki, who had been trained as a physician in Warsaw and a surgeon in Vienna. They made their home in San Francisco. He was reputed to be a Polish count, who had fled his homeland after an abortive uprising in the 1840s against the Russians.

The Pawlickis had two sons, Thaddeus, who trained to be a lawyer, and Casimir, a doctor. Both practiced in San Francisco well into the 20th century. Since neither married, their line of the Durkin family expired as did Edward Durkin's when he died a bachelor.

Patrick Durkin married Ellen (whose last name remains unknown), and they also lived in San Francisco. They had six children: John, James, Edward, Joseph, Mary, and Caroline. This branch of the family burgeoned and blossomed with the marriage of John to Margaret O'Brien; Joseph to Helen Stamont; and Caroline to Christopher Oughim.

John and Margaret became the parents of Raymond, James, Gertrude, Harold, J. Rutherford, and Helen Durkin. Raymond married Muriel Nichols. Their son wed Mary Hager, and they had five children when last heard from in Pacifica, California.

James married Matilda (last name unknown), and their daughter, Bernice, married Arthur Johnson. Gertrude wed Leonard Giberton, and they had a son, David. Harold and J. Rutherford died as bachelors.

Helen Durkin married Francis Collins and produced three daughters: Lois, Dolores, and Marilyn. When Francis died, Helen became the wife of Charles Benham, by whom she had a fourth daughter, Dorothy.

Lois Collins married Christopher Mullarkey, and they had five children: Shawna, Craig, Neil, Kevin, and Ryan. They lived in Seattle.

Dolores wed Lawrence Fenton, and they had six children: Ellen (wed to James Cornwall), Noreen, Michael, Kerry, Marianne, and Laura. The family lived in Petaluma, California.

Marilyn wed David Byrnes, and they had ten children: Karen, Jamie (wed to Paul Shultz), Kevin, Michael, Kean, Timothy, Brian, Sean, Maura, and Bridget. (David Byrnes, Jr. died in infancy.) The family lived in Montrose, California. David, the father, died of a heart attack while in Denver on business.

Meanwhile, Joseph and Helen had five children: Jamie Joseph, Denise, Joan, Chris, and William. Their marriages and progeny are unknown at this time. All were living in northern California communities.

Caroline and Christopher Oughim had three children: Margaret, John, and Gertrude. Margaret married Harold Joseph and had three children. They were living in Belmont, California. John married, but his wife's name is not known. He resides in Santa Rosa, California. Gertrude died at an early age.

Elizabeth Duffy's parents — Bernard and Mary McDonald Duffy — were the parents of seven children: James, Bernard Jr., John, Lawrence, Ann, Margaret, and Elizabeth. The records indicate that Elizabeth's sisters and brothers all died before they could consider marriage. Bernard died in 1861 and Mary in 1867. As recorded, Patrick Lenahan died in 1898 and Elizabeth lived on until 1910.

Today, probably many of the fourth and fifth generation descendants of James and Elizabeth O'Connell and Patrick Lenahan and his two wives — Margaret Durkin and Elizabeth Duffy — have little knowledge of the harsh history of their Irish-born antecedents. Undoubtedly, many of them do not even think of themselves as ethnics — if they consider their lineage at all.

In their minds, they are Americans, who have been here for years they cannot tally. After all, it may be argued, was not assimilation into the American Dream the ultimate goal?

Andrzej Przymusiła

Pawlicki Władysław (1831—1923), lekarz, działacz polonijny w Stanach Zjednoczonych. Ur. 26 XII w Lachowcach w pow. ostrogskim na Wołyniu. O rodzicach brak wiadomości. Jego wuj ks. Koźmiński wysłał go w r. 1846 do gimnazjum w Żytomierzu. Następnie P. studiował medycynę na uniwersytecie w Kijowie. W pierwszym roku studiów utrzymywał się z korepetycji, przez następne lata był na «skarbowym koszczie», zobowiązany za to po ukończeniu medycyny do podjęcia pracy w charakterze lekarza Floty Czarnomorskiej (1855). Przebywał w Sewastopolu przez ostatnie 3 miesiące oblęż.

P. był członkiem Tow. Polaków w Kalifornii (kontynuującego działalność powołanego w r. 1863 Komitetu Polskiego w San Francisco) i w końcu lat siedemdziesiątych oraz w latach osiemdziesiątych — jego wiceprezesem, a następnie prezesem. W r. 1880 przystąpił do powstałego właśnie Związku Narodowego Polskiego (ZNP) od początku propagując jego idee. Został wybrany na delegata na I Sejm Związku we wrześniu 1880 w Chicago, ale ze względów rodzinnych nie wziął w nim udziału. Jednak niewątpliwie pod wpływem P-go Tow. Polaków w Kalifornii przylączyło się wkrótce do ZNP, najpierw jako grupa nr 4, a następnie jako grupa nr 7. P. utrzymywał bliskie stosunki z Heleną Modrzejewską, która podarowała Towarzystwu bibliotekę. Współpracował ściśle z Muzeum w Raperswilu, zabiegając dla niego w Kalifornii o pomoc finansową. Od r. 1894 był członkiem korespondentem Tow. Muzeum Narodowego Polskiego w Raperswilu, był też współpracownikiem Muzeum Polskiego w Chicago. Propagował sprawę polską na gruncie amerykańskim, urządzając obchody rocznic narodowych, publikując w prasie kalifornijskiej artykuły, np. na temat jubileuszu J. I. Kraszewskiego. Na Wystawie Międzynarodowej w r. 1894 w San Francisco zorganizował 20 V w Festival Hall Dzień Polski z udziałem Modrzejewskiej. Dn. 3 V 1899 w San Francisco na uroczystym obchodzie rocznicy Konstytucji 3 maja wygłosił odczyt na temat stosunków wewnętrznych w Polsce w okresie Sejmu Czteroletniego. Rozwijał różnorodne akcje, aby zaznaczyć opinię amerykańską z uciskiem stosowanym wobec ludności polskiej w zaborach pruskim i rosyjskim, m. in. przygotowywał w tej sprawie memoriał na Kongres Katolicki w Chicago we wrześniu 1893. Nie doszło jednak do postawienia tej sprawy wskutek oporu zmarłychwstańców.

P. był także aktywnym działaczem katolickim. Próbował różnymi sposobami przeciwstawić się zabiegom Kościoła prawosławnego, zmierzającym do nawrócenia unitów-emigrantów z Galicji na terenie Stanów Zjednoczonych. Publikował w tej sprawie artykuły w pismach „The Catholic American News” i „Monitor”, wywierał też wpływ na redakcję „The Catholic World”. Wspólnie z Modestem Maryańskim opracował „Statystykę Kościoła Polskiego w Stanach Zjednoczonych” (Kr. 1892, jako autor: Maryański) na Wystawę Lwowską w r. 1894 na podstawie informacji udzielonych przez proboszczów parafii polskich w Ameryce, jako odpowiedzi na ankietę rozesłaną przez P-ego i Maryańskiego. W sporze między ZNP i Zjednoczeniem Polskim Rzymsko-Katolickim P. wystąpił po stronie ZNP, krytykując działania zmarłychwstańców. Powoływał się przy tym na pozytywne wzory współpracy między organizacjami religijnymi i narodowymi wśród innych grup etnicznych w Stanach Zjednoczonych, a zwłaszcza irlandzkiej. Dążąc do zjednoczenia podzielonego wychodźstwa polskiego w Ameryce, opracował wspólnie z Maryańskim projekt utworzenia Ligi Polskiej, która powstała w r. 1894. Jednak wobec silnej opozycji uznał, że projektodawcy nie powinni wchodzić do jej zarządu. Liga istniała do r. 1896. O ostatnich latach życia P-ego brak wiadomości. P. zmarł 10 XII 1923 w San Francisco i tu pochowany został na cmentarzu Św. Krzyża.

Halina Florkowska-Franćić

Pawlik Michał (Pavlyk Mychajło), pseud. Rusin, krypt. M. K., M. T., P. K. (1853—1915), pisarz, publicysta, socjalistyczny działacz ukraiński w Galicji. Ur. 17 IX w rodzinie chłopskiej we wsi Manastersko (Monastersko) pod Kosowem. Uczył się w gimnazjum w Kołomyi i we Lwowie, gdzie w r. 1874 zdał maturę i rozpoczął studia na Wydziale Filozoficznym Uniw. Lwow. Początkowo związany był z moskalofilami i należał do stowarzyszenia „Akademićkie Kółko” (Akademičnyj Kružok), a od r. 1876 wchodził do jego zarządu. Zaprzyjaźniony z Iwanem Franką, wspólnie z nim redagował od r. 1876 pismo „Druh” (1874—7), które z moskalofilskiego przekształcił w niezależny organ o charakterze demokratycznym, lansujący idee związku ukraińskiej inteligencji z ludem wiejskim i publikujący artykuły o treści socjalistycznej. W tym czasie znalazł się w kręgu ludzi związanych z Michailem Drahomanowem; dwudziestoletnia przyjaźń, ścisła współpraca, stała korespondencja wpłynęły na ukształtowanie polityczno-społecznych poglądów P-a. W styczniu 1877 P. został aresztowany we Lwowie wraz z grupą młodych działaczy ukraińskich, pod zarzutem propagandy idei socjalistycznych, związków z zagranicznymi nielegalnymi organizacjami i współpracy z Drahomanowem; w procesie 16—20 III 1877 skazano go na 8 dni aresztu. Ponownie aresztowany został w końcu 1877 r. w związku ze sprawą Erazma Kobylańskiego przybyłego z Petersburga do Lwowa dla nawiązania stosunków z socjalistami polskimi i ukraińskimi. Sądzony we Lwowie w procesie polskich i ukraińskich socjalistów 14—21 I 1878, P. otrzymał wraz z Kobylańskim najwyższy wyrok trzech miesięcy więzienia (20 VIII — 19 XI 1878) za przynależność do tajnej socjalistycznej organizacji i działalność propagandową. Aresztowania te spowodowały upadek „Druha”. Od 1 IV 1878 P. i Franko wydawali we Lwowie nowe demokratyczne pismo ukraińskie „Hromadskijruh”, a następnie pisma zbiorowe „Dzvin” oraz „Molot”, w których drukowali m. in. artykuły Bolesława Limanowskiego.

Od czasu procesu styczniowego 1878 r. P. (podobnie jak Franko) włączył się do pracy w galicyjskim ruchu robotniczym i związał z polskimi socjalistami, głównie dzięki pomocy Bolesława Limanowskiego. W sierpniu 1878 wszedł do grona współpracowników „Pracy”, w której od tego czasu zamieścił wiele artykułów. Myślał Pawlicki, a native of Poland and a veteran of the Crimean War, used his influence to secure the services of Madame Helena Modjeska, who was making a tour of America at the time. Early in 1883 a benefit was given by this noble, tender-hearted woman for the Sisters and their little children. A matinee, held at the Grand Opera House, on Mission Street, near Third, on Washington's Birthday, was a grand financial success as well as quite a social event.

En juillet, madame Monique Gauché-Pstrokonski, petite-fille de Joséphine Junosza, artiste qui a peint le tableau de l'église, est venue à Chabreloche sur les traces de sa grand-mère et de son père, Stanislas Pstrokonski, dont la sépulture est au cimetière de Chabreloche. Un vin d'honneur a été organisé par la mairie. Des documents sur madame Junosza ont pu être découverts, notamment une photo prise au Musée du Louvre, où on la voit copiant un tableau alors qu'elle avait 85 ans.

In July, Madame Monique Gauche-Pstrokonski, granddaughter of Josephine Junosza, artist who painted the church painting, came to Chabreloche in the footsteps of her grandmother and her father, Stanislas Pstrokonski, whose burial is at the cemetery of Chabreloche. A wine reception was organized by the town hall. Documents on Ms. Junosza have been discovered, including a photo taken at the Louvre Museum, where she is seen copying a painting when she was 85 years old.

After restoration, a copy of a work by Titian was installed on one of the walls of the church

The church of Chabreloche has recently housed a beautiful painting, a mastered and freshly restored copy of a work by Titian, exhibited in the Louvre.

It was hidden in the shadows and served as a partition under the staircase leading to the bell tower. Here it is now brought to light on one of the walls of the Chabreloche church. In front of an attentive audience gathered for the inauguration, the city councilor Mireille Carton told last week the beautiful story of the painting The Transport of Christ to the tomb.

Let's be clear right away: this is a copy. The original, signed Le Titien, is in the Louvre, in the same room as La Joconde. But the copy is very well made ?? thanks in particular to quality catering.

Let us return to the staircase which leads to the bell tower. "It was a friend, Agnès Dupuy, a painting restorer in Ambert, who noticed it," says Mireille Carton. She offered to restore it. We discussed it with Mayor Christian Genest and we came to an agreement. This would enhance our little church, which dates only from the second half of the XIX th century and where there is little furniture. "

The financing of the project was completed thanks to private donations and the benefits of concerts given by pianist Laurent Martin.

The artist painter owned a house in Celles Agnès Dupuy took charge of the restoration of the canvas and the frame. She discovered that the painting was signed J. Junosza. J like Joséphine. Mireille Carton led the investigation: "We found that this woman painter had had a house built in Les Hommades, in Celles-sur-Durolle. It is still called "la maison de la Génosa" even if it was sold in the 1950s".

The research carried out by the two women revealed that Joséphine de Junosza, born in Warsaw, was known to have made copies of paintings at the Louvre museum at the beginning of the last century. Her son Stanislas lived in Chabreloche, in the former gendarmerie. "He was in charge of the cinema, he painted and it was he who made the sets for the amateur theater troupe", specifies Mireille Carton.

If the chosen one, passionate about art, found a certain amount of information on the painter, she could not solve the mystery of the painting. How did he end up in the church? Was it an order? Has it been offered?

Other questions concern the frame, which has also been restored. It is a Mouth, a renowned signature in the art world. There again, the link with Chabreloche emerged thanks to the investigation of Mireille Carton and Agnès Dupuy.

"Émile Bouche, son of the painter Georges Bouche and Émilie Charmy, owners of a house in Marnat, had set up an annex of his frame manufacturing company in Chabreloche at the time of the Second World War". Did Bouche and la Génosa know each other? Certainly. But how did they come to work together on Transporting Christ to the Tomb ? "It's a real police investigation", laughs Mireille Carton, still awaiting testimonies that can help her clarify the last gray areas.

One year of work

The restoration of the painting, (of which here is a detail) took a year of work from Ambertoise Agnès Dupuy. There were notably repaints on the canvas, which had to be removed, and some pieces of the frame were peeling off. Today, even if it is clearer than the original, the copy has regained all its brilliance.
