

WŁADYSŁAW PAWLICKI¹ TO HELENA MODJESKA²

24 February 1905 San Francisco (Calif.)

My dear and kind Madame,

Pursuant to the death of his brother Władysław in Warsaw in 1900, Aleksander Bednawski,³ prior to his own death on 14 June 1901, authorised me in his will that on the execution of his final wishes, that if he among other recipients were in time to receive a portion of his late brother's estate, that I should then pay to you a sum of one hundred dollars. In the matter of Aleksander's inheritance, given his participation in the November Uprising⁴ and subsequent desertion from the Russian army, and subsequent to a bitter dispute between the late Władysław Bednawski's childless widow and certain other legal heirs, the matter met with a number of impediments in Warsaw courts. In order to salvage his portion of the inheritance, Aleksander was forced to relinquish all his claims to his younger brother Jan Bednawski, which indeed he did in formal fashion a few months prior to his own death. Following a lawsuit of several year's duration in Warsaw courts, Jan Bednawski only last year was able to secure both his own inheritance and that portion of his brother Aleksander. However, notwithstanding several assurances in letters to respect the wishes of his late brother Aleksander, Jan this past autumn forwarded to me only a portion of the aforesaid inheritance, retaining for himself, using some weak excuse, the remainder which amounts to seven hundred dollars.

I wrote to him in Warsaw, most recently in November of last year; thereupon, having received no response, I was thus, with judicial consent, forced to begin distributing among the rightful heirs that amount which I had managed to obtain. Thus, after deducting a variety of incurred costs from that sum, instead of the one hundred that the late Aleksander had assigned to doubt) to obtain the remainder from Mr. Jan Bednawski, you will in that case receive your apportioned amount. Upon receipt of that money I would kindly request from you as swiftly as possible a final reckoning of accounts, with your signature "Helena Chłapowska".

We are all, thank God, in good health, with the exception of old Captain Bielawski⁶ who has been bedridden for several days. Despite that, we are all hopeful that he will live to March 4 to see his ninetieth birthday.⁷

How have you, Madame, and *Pan Karol*⁸ been keeping? We have been reading about the large-scale preparations now underway in Los Angeles for the upcoming Congress of the Knights of Columbus.⁹ Has Pan Karol already delivered his lecture on the Uniates?¹⁰ I would be glad to hear some information pertaining to that.

With best regards to you, my good Lady, and with kind wishes from my wife, with deep respect I remain
