Please hold on to that letter – don't send it back, as I will be arriving in San Francisco on Sunday, most probably with the captain,³ who'll stay for several days. I can say this much for certain: I will be there, and he will – [for] as long as anyone detains him, which is quite probable. Anyway, nothing is new here. The last time I heard about Chłapowski's⁴ projected departure⁵ was from the general;⁶ I even heard about it from Pani [herself],⁷ but I'd be surprised to see this happen so soon. What I wanted to say is that it would be perfect timing – coinciding with McCulloch's⁸ arrival, so arrangements will be settled more quickly and more satisfactorily with no one around to get in the way.⁹ Anyhow, Pani won't be under as much stress. If you should see her before Sunday, please kiss her hand and give her my respects. Say hi to our friends. I'll bring your books.

⁴ Karol Bozenta [Bodzenta] Chłapowski, husband of actress Helena Modjeska

⁶ Włodzimierz Krzyżanowski (1824–1887) arrived in the United States in 1846. He joined the Northern side in the American Civil War, and because he made such notable contributions, a year later he was promoted to the rank of general by President Lincoln. He founded The Society for the Assistance of Polish Immigrants [Towarzystwo Pomocy dla Polskich Imigrantów]. He was the author of Memories from a Sojourn in America: 1861–1864, published in Warsaw, 1883 [Wspomnień z pobytu w Ameryce]

⁷ Pani (Ma'am) Helena Modrzejewska (Modjeska); see: <http://culture.pl/en/artist/helena-modrzejewska-modjeska>

Pani, in Polish means "the Lady [madame/ma'am];" also the feminine singular, honorific pronoun for either "she" or "you"

⁸ John McCullough (1832-1885), a popular American tragedian; beginning in 1866, the owner of the California Theater in San Francisco, where Modjeska appeared for the first time in the United States; see: https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/John_Edward_McCullough

⁹ In Sienkiewicz's opinion, Modjeska could conduct business with McCullough more effectively without interference from her husband
