Mary Skinner

Producer & Director of a new documentary film about IRENA SENDLER
In the Name of Their Mothers

As the heroine of the Hallmark film, The Courageous Heart of Irena Sendler, becomes better known to the world, it is extremely important to understand the complexity, danger and drama of the story behind the rescue of 2500 Jewish children from the Warsaw Ghetto during WWII.

Filmmaker Mary Skinner interviewed not only Sendler but, over a period of five years, many others involved in the extraordinary network of courage that became a true conspiracy against evil.

Irena Sendler, together with Polish professionals, working people, parents, and teenagers, harcerstwo --people from all walks of life and all political backgrounds--risked and sometimes sacrificed their lives in a daring, selfless underground movement unlike any in occupied Europe: Żegota.
