

A visitor to our website asked "Where can I find pączki in the San Francisco Bay Area?"

If you have more suggestions, please contact us!

Dear Friend,

It's hard to find real pączki in the SF Bay Area. However, there is something similar, that Jewish people call "sufganiyot."

Try Saul's Deli and/or Neto Caffé.

<http://www.saulsdeli.com/>

<http://www.netocaffe.com/>

It is possible that Cinderella Bakery bakes pączki in Lent.

<http://cinderellabakery.com/home.html>

The Seakor Deli in San Francisco may bake pączki. You could try them, too.

<http://www.polishclubsf.org/Seakor.jpg>

We're not sure if Esther's has anything similar, but try!

<http://www.esthersbakery.com/>

Maybe someone at Bona's knows where to get pączki:

<http://www.bonasrestaurant.com/>

or try

Chopin Cafe

<http://www.polishclubsf.org/ChopinCafe.jpg>